BoatsToGo.com Introduces the 13' Pro-Angler Inflatable Fishing Kayak

North Miami, FL, October 10, 2013 – BoatsToGo.com, one of the leading inflatable boat dealers in the United States, is introducing a state-of-the art inflatable kayak specifically designed for fishing.

The Saturn FK396 is a top of the line inflatable boat that will allow you to get out on the water fishing at an affordable price, without sacrificing any of the great features you need. “I couldn’t find any other standard or inflatable boat like it for the price I paid,” said recent customer Michael Huff. “Nobody else offers these types of benefits on discount inflatable kayaks as far I could tell.”

The Saturn inflatable kayak was designed to give boaters the same durability they could find in a hard hull kayak. To accomplish this, Saturn built this inflatable boat out of 1,100 Dtex High Strength PVC fabric, which has been coated on both sides in order to create a material that is incredibly resistant to rips and abrasions. They also specifically designed the floor of the FK396 in a way that makes it extremely rigid and solid when inflated, but able to easily be rolled up when deflated.

A great thing about inflatable boats like the Pro-Angler Fishing Kayak is that the way they are built allows them to be stored in small spaces and easily transported in the trunk of a car. That means you save on docking fees. It also means that you can easily take your boat with you wherever you want to go without needing a trailer.

“Another reason I decided to buy this inflatable boat was its versatility,” said Mr. Huff. “I can sit comfortably on the two aluminum benches that came with my boat if I want. I can also remove them and replace them with boat chairs or standard kayak seats.”

The FK396 inflatable kayak also performs great when out on the water. It is extremely easy to paddle, coming with a large removable fin that can be attached to the bottom for increased directional stability. It can also support a trolling motor if you’d prefer, making it one of the best and most versatile fishing kayaks on the market today.
